

Free Plagiarism Checkers available online

There are plenty of online plagiarism detectors that check your documents against a variety of sources available online and numerous websites. Some of the popular tools are listed below. Most of these tools offer free check on first few documents. We put these tools to the test by copying a passage from a published research paper and passing them through the tools. Most of the tools detected plagiarism and managed to find the source of the text on ResearchGate website and SPIE journal abstracts page. The process was fairly quick and although there were slight differences in the presentation format, the overall plagiarism detection abilities were comparable.
